the large packing plants which normally supply the more distant areas have been getting a smaller portion of the meat animals.

Aggravating bad distribution among civilians has been the fact that the government has had to depend very largely upon the bigger plants to supply the army and lend-lease and to provide foreign relief. These plants have been forced to cut down on supplies moving to their civilian customers.
